January 7, 2015, Salt Lake City, Utah, Red Butte Garden

This spring, consider a visit to Red Butte Garden to see the growing display of over 450,000 blooming bulbs! The blooms begin in March with ground-covering mini-Iris in various shades of blues, purples, and yellows. Then in April, the show-stopping Daffodils herald the arrival of spring. The Garden has over 227,000 Daffodils and 173,000 other bulbs such as Allium, Anemone, Cyclamen, Galanthus, Hyacinth, and more. Flowering bulbs are not the only showy display—trees and shrubs also blossom all spring throughout the Garden from Serviceberry, Crabapple, Magnolia, and Flowering Cherry, to Pears and Lilacs.

This spring marks the 30th Anniversary of greeting guests at Red Butte Garden. Make your annual spring visit to Red Butte Garden to see the spectacular Bulbs and Blooms display. Check our website for more information about garden tours, flower and art exhibits, history of the Garden, and more.

Red Butte Garden is on the American Daffodil Society list of approved display gardens. With over 450,000 bulbs including 227,000 Daffodil bulbs of a variety of colors, sizes, styles, and scents, Red Butte Garden has the largest Daffodil display and the largest naturalizing bulb display in the Intermountain West.
